Sprachpraxis Module Exam Module 9 / Module 10 / MA 01 (English 3) SS 2026

This exam will take place in Campus Center Hörsaal 1 on Saturday July 11 from 8.30am to 12.30pm.

In order to be eligible for this exam, you must have successfully completed three English 3 courses. Registration is possible via eCampus up to Friday July 3. It is your responsibility to remember to register and to check that it has worked. You can cancel your registration for the exam up to the day before the exam takes place. If your cancellation is after that, you will need to provide the Prüfungsausschuss with a written excuse within three days of the exam.

This exam is a 4-hour written one. You will be asked to write a persuasive essay of 400-600 words in response to one of two current newspaper articles. Lehramt students (including L4) will also be asked to translate a short text taken from a recent German news publication into English; MA EAS and EACBS students can choose between the translation or a reading comprehension exercise. You can find exam papers from previous years in the Past Exam Papers section of the Sprachpraxis Moodle site (no enrolment key necessary).

All candidates may bring one English-English and one German-German monolingual dictionary to use in this exam if they wish. Electronic dictionaries are not permitted. Please note that a thesaurus is not a dictionary and you will not be allowed to use one.

You are strongly advised not to bring any electronic devices (such as mobile phones, smartwatches, smart glasses, bluetooth-enabled devices etc.) at all into the exam room. If you choose to do so, they must be switched off completely and placed in your bag at the front of the room before the exam begins. Please note that if you are caught in possession of such a device during the exam, this will be considered cheating regardless of what you were doing with it.

There will be a seating plan for this exam. If you have a specific requirement for a seat, please send an email to Fiona Dancy before the registration deadline.

Candidates who need special exam arrangements must apply to their exam board before the registration deadline. Please do this as soon as possible and let me know as soon as you have the confirmation.

There is no "Nachholklausur" – the next opportunity to take the exam will be in February 2027.
